Mandatory 2019 Summer Reading List for incoming Secondary 5 Students

*All students coming into Secondary 5 in August 2019 must read 1 French novel over the summer. (Speak with your French teacher if you are not certain what level you are going into next year.)

If you are going into Programme de Base you must read:

L'enfant de Noe par Eric-Emmanuel Schmitt

- If you are going into Enrichi you must read:

La debauche par Daniel Pennac et Jacques Tardi

- If you are going into Langue D'enseignement you must read:

Double jeu par Jean-Philippe Blondel

HONORS English Summer Reading List 2019

All students registered in the honors English class must read the following two books over the summer:

- The World's Greatest Short Stories, edited by James Daley (Dover Thrift Edition)
- Waiting for Godot by Samuel Beckett

While there is no mandatory English reading for students not registered for Honors English, the members of the English Department can not recommend strongly enough the benefits of reading over the summer break. Summer reading, both fiction and non-fiction, is critical for both the retention and development of critical skills which will support students through their final year of high school and, beyond.
